Local workforce development professionals would not be recognized for their contribution to the community.

Background:

The Board of Supervisors is requested to sign a resolution designating the month of May as Workforce Development Professionals' Month.

Workforce development professionals comprise those whose efforts enable job-seekers to find employment through a local network of partners, consisting of educational institutions, community-based training providers, service agencies, businesses, and government agencies. This network includes Sonoma County's Job Link and SonomaWORKS programs, both of which are extensively involved in matching people with jobs in order to enable individuals to become self-sufficient and to expand their career opportunities.

This resolution recognizes employment & training counselors, employment & training specialists, eligibility workers, support staff, supervisors and managers for their contributions to the economic well-being and civic stability of Sonoma County.

Recommendation:

The Board of Supervisors is requested to approve a resolution designating the month of May as Workforce Development Professionals' Month.
