

Sonoma County Prevention Partnership

CHARTER

---

MISSION

The mission of the Sonoma County Prevention Partnership is to enhance the wellbeing of our community by working collaboratively to develop population level strategies to address tobacco, alcohol, and other drugs.

PURPOSE

The Sonoma County Prevention Partnership is a county-wide voluntary collaborative convened by the Department of Health Services to plan and promote health policy and advocacy efforts to reduce substance abuse and misuse in Sonoma County. The Partnership and its subcommittees work to:

- Increase public awareness of alcohol, tobacco and other drug issues, and potential solutions.
- Advocate for health-focused policies and practices in community environments.
- Build collaborative relationships with community groups that support the Partnership mission.

GOALS

- To promote alcohol, tobacco, and other drug policy that reduces underage use and adult high risk use.
- To advocate for local, statewide, and national policies to promote health and decrease the community burden of alcohol, tobacco and other drug use.
- To collaborate with community partners to create healthy communities for Sonoma County residents.

CURRENT MEMBERS

John Abrahams, Sonoma County Public Defender

Steve Bair, Santa Rosa Police Department

Lynn Campanario, Drug Abuse Alternatives Center

Bob Curry, Member, Petaluma Coalition to Prevention Alcohol, Tobacco and other Drug Problems

Diane Davis, Sebastopol Police Department

Lynn Garric, Sonoma County Office of Education

Pamela Granger, Member, Petaluma Coalition to Prevention Alcohol, Tobacco & other Drug Problems

Cora Guy, Community Member

Vince Harper, Sonoma County Community Action Partnership

Janet Kukulinsky, Across Ages and Cultures Prevention Coalition, Action Network, Gualala, CA

Sharon O'Hara, Center for Community Action & Training (CCAT)

Megan Rooney, West County Community Services

Sonoma County Sheriff's Office

Susan Quinn, Santa Rosa Junior College

Deborah Ziccone, Santa Rosa Junior College